Join us for the

IEEE Health and Electronics Conference

November 11, 2022, 8 am

Live Stream from Seattle Washington

Top speakers in the health and electronics industry will discuss new and innovative products, devices and health care equipment. What are the latest IEEE 11073 standards affecting the industry. Find out about electronic health devices that can pinpoint your life expectancy and ways that you may be able to extend. Join us when we speak with top engineers, scientists, technicians, CEOs from the best healthcare Electronic companies such as Siemens, Stryker and Fluke. How are healthcare facilities using microgrids to keep power on at their buildings during power outages. How much power does an MRI unit consume? What are the trends for medical devices in the near future. How is Smart Health playing a big role in Smart Cities? What cities have the longest life expectancy? Find out today on the latest techniques, processes and controls for medical devices and equipment in our live interactive conference. Sign up today at REGISTER.

Register at:
https://events.vtools.ieee.org/m/325146