

IEEE Commissioning Presentation

Thursday March 23, 2023, 12 noon PDT

Live Stream Seattle Washington

The presentation will focus on what electrical commissioning is, the types of facilities traditionally associated with electrical commissioning, the commissioning process, and examples of how this process is applied to a project. The presentation will draw on industry standards and project experience to guide a discussion about the electrical commissioning process and best practices for a successful project.

Dan Reaves has been in the commissioning industry for over 10 years. He has provided whole building commissioning for buildings ranging in purpose and size and has specific experience in the mission-critical and government sectors. His electrical commissioning experience includes data centers, telecom facilities, domestic and overseas government facilities and microgrids.
